Yesterday Today Tomorrow

First, next and when

1 A candle burns down. Write 1 for first and 2 for next.

Direct evidence: Sequence two event states using ordinal numbers. The child orders two explicit states with 1 and 2. Alberta explicitly accepts ordinal numbers for two-event sequencing; no unobserved oral vocabulary claim is made.

Answer: 2, 1

Yesterday Today Tomorrow

Direct evidence: Relate a described event to yesterday, today or tomorrow. Additional scenario task: records only the time relation demonstrated in the supplied scenario. A correct response is direct evidence for that particular yesterday, today or tomorrow application, not all three relations, an observed real event or consistent competence. K029 remains the preferred real-event activity.

Answer: Tomorrow
